GENERAL INVESTIGATION DIVISION

Attached relates that "Kaleidescope", a militant underground newspaper, published in Wisconsin, reported that an unidentified activist stated "they had stolen an airplane from a local airfield, flown it up to Baraboo, Wisconsin, and dropped three bombs on the Badger Ordnance Plant. But, the bombs failed to detonate." A security officer at Baraboo Ordnance Depot, Baraboo, Wisconsin, advised a single-engine aircraft was observed without lights, made two passes at the depot at approximately 500 feet on the early morning of 1/1/70. The commander of the above depot has advised no bombs have been found, and they are continuing the search today.

Our Milwaukee Division is investigating this matter, and the bombings on the University Of Wisconsin campus, at the Reserve Officers Training building, and the vandalism at the Army Reserve Center and the Selective Service Board. This matter is being closely followed.

A search of the Ordnance Depot has been made and two metal lids from what appears to be a one gallon bottle and broken glass has been found near a laundry building and approximately 50 ft South of Building #10, approximately 1500 ft. inside fence perimeter. No footprints in the snow were found and it was believed both bottles had been dropped from the air. Explosive ordinance personnel examined the items and advised the bottles and broken glass and mustard colored liquid found in area may be remnants of incendiary device but noted no trigger or fuse mechanism was found. Samples of the above are being submitted to the FBI Laboratory.

The information contained in referenced teletype would indicate that the stolen Cessna aircraft was the same aircraft sighted over the Baraboo Ordinance Depot 1/1/70.

Milwaukee should promptly determine whether any latent fingerprints were developed on this aircraft after its recovery on 1/1/70. If so, such should be expeditiously submitted to the Identification Division for comparison with the fingerprints of any New Left or antiwar activists from the Madison, Wisconsin, area who could possibly be considered suspects in this matter.

In connection with the above, if bombs are in fact located by the search being conducted at the Baraboo Ordinance Depot, such should be carefully examined for any latent fingerprints for submission to the Identification Division.

RE: UNSUBS; Possible Bombing at Baraboo
Ordinance Depot

Sufficient investigation should be conducted by Milwaukee in order that complete details may be promptly made available to the Department to determine if a violation of the sabotage statute exists. You should be guided by those instructions contained in Section 86, Manual of Instructions, relating to sabotage and furnish the Bureau a communication suitable for dissemination in accordance with the above Bureau deadline.

In view of the other acts of violence which have occurred in the Madison, Wisconsin, area between 12/28/69 and 1/4/70, you should continue to be alert for evidence of a conspiracy directed against the military and Selective Service. The fact that the underground newspaper "Kaleidoscope" has reported this matter and has also expressed a knowledge of the other acts of violence in the Madison area would indicate such conspiracy and you should continue to locate and interview members of this staff as soon as possible.

NOTE:

Underground publication at Madison, Wisconsin, alleges bombs were dropped from a stolen airplane on Army ordinance plant, Baraboo, Wisconsin. Investigation indicates aircraft without lights was sighted over ammunition depot 1/1/70, but no bombs have been found. Investigation was initiated by Milwaukee and that office has been instructed to conduct sufficient investigation to determine whether sabotage violation has occurred and whether act is part of conspiracy against Selective Service and military.

UNSUBS; BOMBING OF BADGER ARMY AMMUNITION PLANT, BARABOO, WISC.
Re Milwaukee teletypes to Bureau 1-5-70 and 1-6-70.

Enclosed for the FBI Laboratory are two test tubes which contain unknown substances. Test tube #1 contains white granules, soil and unknown liquid which smells like fuel oil. Test tube #2 contains melted snow which had discoloration at time obtained. Contents of both test tubes were found at impact area on Baraboo Ordinance Depot grounds where "bombs" were dropped on 1-1-70.

For information FBI Laboratory, two "bombs" were recovered Baraboo Ordinance Depot 1-6-70 which had been dropped from stolen airplane while flying over ordinance and penetrated 6 - 8 inches of frozen snow and 3 - 5 inches of frozen ground but failed to detonate. Similar type "bombs" were used in successful firebombing of Army ROTC buildings, University of Wisconsin campus on 12-28-69 and 1-3-70. However, Wisconsin State Crime Lab was unable to reach any conclusions regarding fire bombs used on the ROTC buildings.

FBI Laboratory is requested to determine contents of each test tube and if contents possible components of a home-made bomb. Milwaukee Division is currently maintaining bulk of material gathered from Baraboo Ordinance Depot and addition samples will be forwarded if needed.

UNKNOWN SUBJECTS;
Bombing of Badger Army Ammunition Plant,
Baraboo, Wisconsin

The Badger Army Ammunition Plant (BAAP) is located approximately 10 miles southwest of Baraboo, Wisconsin on U.S. Highway 12. This plant manufactures gun powder and is operated under contract by the Olin Mathison Chemical Company for the U.S. Army. Security of the plant is handled by the Department of the Army.

At about 5:09 PM on January 2, 1970 a person identifying himself as [redacted] for the "Daily Cardinal", the student newspaper at the University of Wisconsin (UW), Madison, Wisconsin, telephonically contacted BAAP and advised Lt. [redacted] Military Security Division, that he had heard a rumor that two days ago a bomb had been "thrown" at the plant. [redacted] requested background information concerning the bomb blast. [redacted] advised that there was no such information concerning such a bomb. [redacted] then stated that possibly the bomb had not yet gone off. [redacted] refused to discuss the matter further with [redacted]. The security force was alerted to look for possible bomb devices but none were located until January 7, 1970.

Inquiry at the "Daily Cardinal" and Madison Newspapers, Inc., publishers of the "Wisconsin State Journal" and "The Capitol Times", on January 2, 1970 failed to identify [redacted] as either a reporter or employee of either organization.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

The January 4, 1970 issue of the Madison edition of the "Kaleidoscope", an underground newspaper, which went on sale on January 5, 1970, carried a front page article reporting the bombing incidents at facilities housing the Army ROTC Offices and classrooms on the UW Campus on December 28, 1969 and January 3, 1970. The article also described in some detail the entry into and the vandalism committed at the U.S. Army Reserve Center on January 1, 1970. Also the article reported the theft of a Cessna 150 airplane from Morey's Air Field, Middleton, Wisconsin, on New Year's Eve. The article reported that the plane was used to fly over BAAP and dropped bombs which failed to detonate.

On January 5, 1970 the Dane County Sheriff's Department advised that they were investigating the theft of a Cessna 150 Aircraft from Morey's, which was recovered at the Sauk-Prairie Airport in Sauk City, Wisconsin on January 1, 1970. The plane was processed by the Sauk County Sheriff's Department and two latent prints were developed on the control wheel. The lifts were turned over to FBI Agents.

RE: BOMBING OF BAAP

A crime scene search at the point of recovery of the plane on January 1, 1970 noted that two sets of footprints led from the abandoned aircraft and crossed a field and went through a line of trees to a barn area housing horses. This barn is located approximately 300 to 400 yards west of the rural single air strip of the Sauk-Prairie Airport. This air strip is not equipped with runway lights. No photographs or casts were taken of the prints as they were 90 percent covered by newly fallen snow. Neighborhood investigation at the point of recovery was negative.

A security officer at BAAP stated that he observed a single engine plane flying low over the plant at about 2:13 AM on January 1, 1970. He stated that this plane did not have on its running lights.

Theft of instant aircraft was discovered by an employee of Morey's at 8:30 AM on January 1, 1970. Recovery and location of the plane was telephonically received by Field P. Morey at 9:30 AM on January 1, 1970. The aircraft was stolen from a storage hangar. Entry into the hangar was made by prying the outside hinges from a small entry door in the hangar doors on the east side of the building. The aircraft was parked near the west doors with the keys in the ignition.

Interview conducted by FBI Agents determined that the aircraft was stored with a full tank of gas at approximately 5:30 PM on December 31, 1969. Field Morey was the last person to leave the air field after making a security check at 6:30 PM. When the plane was returned, it was filled with gas and it was determined through the consumption of 11 gallons of gas that the unknown subjects possibly had the plane for one and one-half hours. Instant plane belongs to Morey Aircraft Company and is used for flight instructions.

Lists of licensed pilots have been obtained from the Morey Aircraft Company, UW Flying Club, Frickelton School of Aeronautics and the Four Lakes Aviation Corporation, all in the Madison area.

RE: BOMBING OF BAAP

On January 6, 1970 a search of the BAAP grounds located pieces of glass and metal tops in two separate areas. The glass fragments and metal tops appeared to be from gallon sized, wide-mouth jars, similar to the type used by restaurants in storing mayonaise and pickles. It also appears to be similar in type to the jars recovered at the bombing site of the T-16 building on the UW Campus on December 28, 1969. The one such device was found between buildings in the acid area in the north part of the plant and the second one near a laundry building in the south area of the plant.

There was no damage to any plant facilities. Soil and liquid specimens have been submitted to the FBI Laboratory in Washington, D.C. in attempt to identify the possible explosive substance. Upon receipt of the results of such examination, the remaining physical evidence will be submitted for examination.

Interviews are continuing to possibly identify unknown subjects in the theft of instant Cessna aircraft.

In the matter of the fire bombs of the ROTC facilities on the University of Wisconsin (UW) campus, Madison, Wisconsin, glass fragments were recovered by the Wisconsin Fire Marshal's office. These fragments, along with fragments recovered from the bombing of the Primate Laboratory, UW, on 1/4/70, which is located across the street from the Wisconsin State Selective Service Headquarters, 1220 Capitol Court, Madison, were examined at the Wisconsin State Crime Laboratory, Madison. This laboratory was unable to identify the type of substances used to ignite such fires, although they advised that they could not locate any traces of any petroleum based products. No latent prints were developed on these fragments. It is believed that similar type material was used in the devices dropped at the BAAP on 1/1/70. Results of FBI Laboratory examination may result in the solution of all cases mentioned.

A. PREDICATION

Investigation is predicated upon information furnished by [] Security Officer, Badger Army Ammunition Plant (BAAP), Baraboo, Wisconsin, to Special Agent [] Madison, Wisconsin, on January 2, 1970, as follows:

Lieutenant [] Military Security Division, BAAP, received a phone call on January 2, 1970, from a person identifying himself as [] for "The Daily Cardinal," a University of Wisconsin (UW), Madison, Wisconsin, student newspaper. [] stated he had heard rumors that two days ago a bomb had been thrown at the plant. [] requested background on the bomb blast. [] advised that he had no information concerning such a bomb. [] responded that possibly the bomb had not yet gone off. [] refused to discuss the matter further with [] and reported the call to [].

b7C

[] further advised that no bomb throwing incident(s) have been reported by any security guard and no explosion(s) had taken place at the plant. In view of the call, guard patrols have been alerted to such a possibility of a throwing incident or the firing of any undetonated device.

b7C

[] residence [] "The Daily Cardinal," Wisconsin, advised Special Agent [] on January 3, 1970, that the Cardinal does not have now or formerly had a reporter on the staff named []. [] advised that the name was unfamiliar to him as a person involved in journalism in the Madison area.

b7C

[] residence [] Wisconsin. [] of the "Wisconsin State Journal" and [] of the Madison Newspapers, Inc., publishers of Madison's two daily newspapers, the Journal and the "Capital Times," advised that [] is not now or formerly was a reporter for either paper. The name [] was not familiar to [] as an individual involved in the publication of any newspapers in and around the Madison area.

The Madison edition of "Kaleidoscope," described as an underground newspaper, in its January 4, 1970, issue which went on sale on January 5, 1970, in an article entitled "Radical Saboteurs Talk With Madison's Kaleidoscope Move Against Targets On and Off Campus: Army, SS Are Hit - ROTC Bombed." The article stated that [redacted] of Madison "Kaleidoscope" staff was contacted on January 1, 1970, by a spokesman of the activist group who claims they had stolen an airplane from a local airfield and flown it up to Baraboo, Wisconsin, and dropped three bombs on the Badger Ordnance Plant. The article continued that the bombs had failed to detonate. The spokesman said that the plane had not yet been reported missing and that they had hidden it at a secluded airfield. - b6 b7C

The newspaper article stated that the above facts were checked out over the last 24 hours and the following facts verified: that sometime after dark on New Years Eve a hanger had been broken into and a Cessna 150 stolen; the airplane was found the next morning standing undamaged on the Sauk City airstrip not far from Baraboo; theft was reported in a one-paragraph article tucked away in the back of the late evening edition of the "Capitol Times."

The article in the paper advised that the guard office in the munitions plant and local Baraboo newspaper denied any trouble of bombs. The newspaper speculated that if the bombs had been dropped they were found and the discovery was kept secret. It also speculated that the possibility existed that there were three small bombs which were dropped and they simply had not been found to date possibly due to the recent new snow fall and the large open spaces between buildings at the plant.

B. THEFT OF AIRCRAFT

Captain [redacted] Detective Bureau, Dane County Sheriff's Office, Madison, Wisconsin, on January 5, 1970, furnished a report of Detective [redacted] on case number 35530. The following was noted from a review of this report: b6 b7C

At approximately 9:30 AM on January 1, 1970, [redacted] of the Morey Aircraft Company, Airport Road, [redacted] b6 b7C

Middleton, Wisconsin, had advised that a Cessna 150, registration number 66203, was stolen from their storage hangar sometime after 12 PM, New Years Eve. The report shows that the hangar was entered on the east side by forcing a small service door open by grabbing the padlocked door on the exposed hinge side and forcing the wooden screws and nails out of their places. Exit was obtained by unhooking the two large tracked hangar doors on the west side and removing the stolen aircraft. A Cessna 172, owned by [redacted] was parked in front of the stolen aircraft and left out on the apron area of the hangar. The hangar doors were then closed and left unhooked. b6 b7C

The airplane was reported recovered by [redacted] [redacted] Sauk-Prairie Airport, Prairie du Sac, Wisconsin. [redacted] reported that the aircraft was left abandoned parked in the middle of the north-south single airstrip. The plane was pointed to the south. b6 b7C

Detective [redacted] Sauk County Sheriff's Office, Baraboo, Wisconsin, processed the plane and lifted two latent fingerprints from the left control wheel. From the point of where the plane was parked two sets of footprints were noted in the snow. These prints led easterly from the airplane to a horse barn 400 or 500 feet east of the airstrip. From the horse barn the tracks led to a service road that entered onto Sauk County Highway FF. Neighborhood investigation failed to develop any information concerning possible suspects. b6 b7C

At the time that the aircraft was flown back to Morey Air Field, Middleton, a flight of approximately 15 minutes, Pilot [redacted] employee of Morey Aircraft, observed that the stolen aircraft's transmitter and receiver, which is normally set on channel 123.5, a flight training channel, was now turned to channel 121.5, which is the emergency transmitting channel. The report stated that [redacted] upon return to Morey Airfield, contacted the Lone Rock, Wisconsin, airport to determine if there was any recorded transmissions on the emergency channel from the stolen aircraft. No transmissions were recorded for this plane during the period of December 31, 1969, to January 1, 1970. Upon return to its home base, the plane was immediately serviced and found to have used approximately 9½ gallons (upon reinterview [redacted] advised that the plane took a total of 11½ gallons of gasoline). Based on consumption return of this aircraft, it is estimated that persons taking this plane flew approximately one and one half hours to one and three quarter hours. b6 b7C

The report pointed out that all planes stored in the Morey hangar are left there with the keys in the ignition.

He worked all day at the airfield on December 31, 1969. He was the last one to leave that evening which was around 6:30 PM. Before leaving he checked all building doors and found them to be secure. At about 8:30 AM on January 1, 1970, he received a phone call from one of the pilots [redacted] advising that he had made a check of the airfield and had found the small port entry door located on the east hangar doors of the storage hangar broken from its hinges. [redacted] at that time had not determined if anything was missing but was requested to do so. [redacted] called back within five minutes and advised [redacted] that a company plane, a Cessna 150, Serial No. 15067420, Registration No. N6620S, blue and white in color, a 1968 model, was missing. [redacted] went to the airport after this report and had the theft and the breaking and entry reported to the Dane County Sheriff's Department. At about 9:30 PM, [redacted] received a telephone call from a [redacted] [redacted] of the Sauk Prairie Airport, Prairie Du Sac, Wisconsin, advising that [redacted] 1968 Cessna 150 was abandoned on [redacted] airstrip and was in good condition. When arriving at the Sauk Prairie Airport, the airplane had been pulled off from the runway and was taken to one of the nearby hangars. When examining the plane he noted that all switches were off and the plane had full flaps which were all normal for operation. [redacted] did observe that the UHF Radio was turned to the emergency frequency channel. This would allow for the receipt of all calls from the Madison, Wisconsin tower and the towers at Lone Rock and Baraboo, Wisconsin. The opposite would be true if any transmission had been made by the persons flying the airplane the previous evening. [redacted] also observed that the window in the left door, which is the pilot side, was loose as well as screws for the window latch being loosened. He also noticed that the pull strap on the door had been broken as if someone had pulled the door shut extra hard.

[] evaluated the situation as to possible suspects in stealing the plane as an individual who probably had the minimum skill of a pilot's license to fly the 150, which is one of the smaller and lighter aircrafts. b6 b7C

Based on the information received to date as to the developments of the fire bombings on the campus of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, he believes that the person or persons stealing the airplane had to have been flying currently within the last three to six months, including some night flying. He also believes that based on the physical set up at the Sauk Prairie Airport, which is a rural airport with a landing strip approximately 2,900 feet long, running north to south, with no nighttime navigational or landing aids, that the person must have been at or flown into the airport at least once or twice. Based on the information received from [] as to the location of the plane on the airstrip, which was approximately 2,000 feet from the north end, it was determined that the plane was landed in a north to southerly direction. On December 31, 1969, [redacted] worked all day at the

As is the custom, in the operation of storing planes, all planes left out on the apron are locked and the keys placed on a panel in the stock room. All planes

On January 1, 1970, at about 8 AM, or shortly thereafter [redacted] went to breakfast in Sauk City, Wisconsin. They returned some time between 9 AM and 9:30 AM. At this time [redacted] observed a light aircraft parked on the airstrip. His position indicated to him at first that possibly the pilot had gotten into a snow pile and could not extricate the plane. [redacted] let off [redacted] and drove out onto the airstrip. There he observed what was later to be identified as a Cessna 150, blue and white, single-engine aircraft registered to the Morey Aircraft Company, Middleton, Wisconsin. This plane was approximately half-way between the north and south end of the airstrip pointing south. When looking inside the aircraft all power switches were off and the carburetor heater pulled along with full flaps. This indicated to [redacted] that whoever landed the plane was an experienced pilot. He believed that after reading the registration papers that [redacted] had delivered the aircraft that he had requested to rent but he was concerned why the plane was left in the middle of the airstrip. At that point [redacted] made a telephone call to Morey Aircraft and learned that the instant plane which bore a registration number of N6620S, had been stolen some time during the previous night. After receiving this theft report [redacted] telephoned the Sauk County Sheriff's Department and two officers appeared and processed the plane. After it was processed [redacted] taxied the plane to a nearby hangar.

[] evaluated that the individual who flew the Morey aircraft must have been an experienced pilot and who had night-time experience in flying. He also believed that the pilot must have been familiar with the Sauk Prairie Airstrip as he had to be oriented as to the airstrip's location and due to the fact that the airstrip is not equipped with runway lights. [] pointed out that he does have red and yellow reflectors positioned along the length of the runway on both sides. [] could not furnish the identity of any persons he has observed at the airport who might possibly be involved in this theft. C. INVESTIGATION AT BADGER ARMY AMMUNITION PLANT (BAAP)

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

1Date January 23, 1970

Lieutenant [redacted], Security Force, Badger
 Army Ammunition Plant, residence [redacted]
 Wisconsin, furnished the following information.

b7C

He was working the shift 11 PM to 7 AM on December 31, 1969 - January 1, 1970. At approximately 1:45 AM, January 1, 1970, he was in the guard headquarters and heard the sound of a low-flying aircraft in the area of the plant. As it seemed that the aircraft stayed around in the plant area, he went outside the headquarters and heard the plane to the west of the plant. It seemed to be making a circular movement and then after a while he observed the plane coming from the north flying south across the lighted area of the plant. As it came south, but north of the power plant, the pilot put the plane in a slight stall close to the acid area. The plane then continued south and for a second time the pilot put the plane in a stall. The plane continued south. This action occurred at about 2:13 AM and he would estimate the plane flying at a height of 400 to 500 feet. From the reflection of the lights from the plant he would describe the aircraft as a single-engine with white coloring and dark color on the wing tips. The pilot did not have any navigational lights on. Based on the activities that occurred subsequent to this sighting in regards to the bombings of facilities on the University of Wisconsin Campus, Madison, Wisconsin, and the finding of glass fragments in the acid and maintenance shop areas, he would deduce that this plane was used in dropping the device on the plant in the early morning of January 1, 1970.

[redacted] has questioned all patrolmen on that shift and learned on this date that one officer has reported that when the above-described aircraft flew over the plant a [redacted] white in color, drove up the road toward the main gate. About one-half way the vehicle made a "U" turn and went back out onto US Highway 12. The officer did not observe in which direction the car proceeded after leaving the plant area. The officer stated that he could only observe one occupant in the vehicle.

The search for items that may be bombs began in the morning of January 6, 1970, and the procedure was that searchers were to systematically comb their designated areas, and if any foreign objects were discovered or if there was any indication on the ground or in the snow that something unusual was lying in the area, then the searcher was not to approach the object for the purpose of determining the nature of the item discovered. The searcher was instead instructed to immediately contact the EOD detachment, and a member of that detachment would be dispatched to the area and make a determination of whether the item found was a bomb.

[redacted] stated that that same morning, he was called to the acid area of the plant to make a determination of whether an item, which was found by an employee of the plant, was a bomb. When [redacted] arrived at the site, he noted that the employee who had found the area had come upon a patch of snow that was disturbed, and the employee's footprints in the snow came to approximately ten to fifteen feet from the disturbed area. inches deep and one foot long and one foot wide. [] closely examined this area and obtained for evidentiary purposes a metal lid for what might have been a one gallon bottle, and he also gathered numerous small pieces of broken glass. He also gathered samples of the ground that had been hit by the object, and he gathered samples of snow from the area. [] advised that glass from the object was scattered for approximately twelve feet in the immediate area of the impact, and the path appeared to be layed from a northerly to a southerly direction. He stated that this path was approximately four feet wide. [] stated that he would be unable to say whether this object had been a bomb without a laboratory examination. b6 b7C

[] stated that later that same morning he was called to the area of Building Number 510 to make a determination of whether another item, which was found by an employee of the plant was a bomb. When [] arrived at the site, he noted that again the employee who had found the area had come upon a patch of snow and ground that was disturbed, and the employee's footprints in the snow came to approximately ten to fifteen feet from the disturbed area. For this reason, [] again determined that he, himself, was the first person on the scene to make the initial investigation of the item found. b6 b7C

[] stated that the area of snow disturbed was approximately fifty feet south of Building Number 510 and was approximately 1500 feet inside the perimeter fence. The object had apparently freshly fallen on the snow-covered ground and made a splatter area of approximately four feet in diameter, but the impact had not penetrated the frozen ground to any extent. A metal lid similar to the first lid was found approximately twenty five feet south of the impact area. [] obtained for evidentiary purposes the metal lid and numerous small pieces of broken glass and snow from the impact area, and from the area that the lid had been found. He stated that the impact area appeared to be layed from a northerly to a southerly direction, and that he was unable to say whether this object had been a bomb without a laboratory examination. b6 b7C

[redacted] Wisconsin State Fire Marshal, furnished the following information:

He said that at about 5:20 AM, January 3, 1970, a fire was reported to the Madison Fire Department in the southeastern turret of the building adjacent to the University of Wisconsin (UW) Student Union Building, which houses the UW Army Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) Administrative Offices. This building is commonly referred to as the Armory Building. There are no other UW Administrative Offices in this building. There is a swimming pool in the basement and basketball courts on the second and third floors. These athletic facilities are opened to all UW students. The fire quickly consumed the southeastern turret, and then spread in the flooring to the basketball gymnasiums and then down into the basement. The fire was officially under control at about 8:15 AM January 3, 1970. Cause of the fire was determined to be a bottle thrown through the first floor window in the southeast turret. This bottle, which contained an accelerant liquid or substance of some type, apparently exploded on contact and ignited the turret. Parts of the bottle, were recovered by [redacted] and taken to the Wisconsin State Crime Laboratory in Madison for comparison with parts of bottles that were recovered in the T-16 UW Armory ROTC classroom building firebombing that occurred on December 28, 1969.

[redacted] Capital Times newspaper, 115 South Carroll Street, furnished the following information:

b7C

During the early morning hours of December 28, 1969 at approximately 8:30 am, [redacted] who was at work in his office for the Capital Times, answered the telephone and was told by a person who did not identify himself that, "we just ripped off the ROTC." This call lasted no more than eight seconds, and the caller hung up before [redacted] was able to ask any questions. The voice sounded as though it belonged to a young man, possibly in his late adolescence. The voice was very calm.

b6
b7C

[redacted] pointed out that his receipt of the telephone call about ROTC was purely by chance as he happened to be the closest to the telephone when it rang. [redacted] has no idea as to the identity of the caller, and he has not received any subsequent calls or notifications of any type.

b6
b7C

Concerning the Madison Kaleidoscope newspaper, commonly known in the Madison area as an underground publication, [redacted] is aware of the identities of four people who are reportedly on its staff. They are:

b6
b7C

[redacted] Kaleidoscope, like the Capital Times, also reportedly received a telephone call from an unidentified individual who announced that there had been a fire bombing at the University of Wisconsin (UW) buildings. He feels that Kaleidoscope, like the Capital Times, subsequently reported the telephone call, and the person at Kaleidoscope who received it does not know who made the call or who was responsible for any of the Madison terrorist incidents.

Kaleidoscope, which claims to be a bi-weekly publication, has been having financial difficulties, and is struggling to keep alive. [] believes this publication sensed when it received the telephone call that it was in possession of information which would be good reading material and which would help its sales. Therefore, the Kaleidoscope staff may have tended to exaggerate their connection with the caller, giving the impression they knew who he was, or that they had some inside information which might possibly lead to solving the cases involving the fire bombings.

He is personally of the opinion that Kaleidoscope knows no more about the Madison fire bombings than the Capital Times.
